

Household and Personal Property Inventory

Create a Household and Personal Property Inventory Book. This can be found at the following link:
<http://www.aces.uiuc.edu/vista/abstracts/ahouseinv.html>

Keep one copy at home, one copy in a safe location (preferably offsite with copies of your other important paperwork.)

Be sure to update it when something changes.

Terms to be familiar with:

Original Cost: How much you paid for an item.

Replacement Cost: How much you would have to pay to replace the item with a new one today. Typically, but not always, this cost is higher than the original cost.

Actual Cash Value: There is not a hard and fast rule on how to calculate ACV, but most insurance companies use the following definition: How much the item would cost new, minus the amount it has “depreciated” (decreased in value due to age, wear and tear, or obsolescence). The depreciation percentage is how long you had the item compared to its expected life.

Special Items = Special Insurance: Some categories of belongings require that owners purchase extra insurance (sometimes called an “endorsement”) to protect them. For example, antiques, silver, collections (such as baseball card collections), personal computers, jewelry, furs, art, and guns may require special endorsements to cover their full value. Be sure to ask your insurance agent about your policy’s limits for these items and purchase additional coverage if necessary. Instead of merely listing the items in your household inventory, you may want to have them appraised and attach their appraised values to the inventory.

Special Risks = Special Insurance: A common disaster in the U.S. is flooding. Did you know that your homeowners policy probably does not cover flood damage? Coverage is available through the National Flood Insurance Program to residents living in “participating communities.” If you are concerned about flood coverage in your area, call the National Flood Insurance Program (800-638-6620) or your insurance agent. Another type of special insurance is Earthquake insurance and is readily available in most areas. It can be inexpensive or quite costly depending on the level of risk you are exposed to. Talk to your insurance agent about this important coverage. Where there is or was mining, there can be mine subsidence (when surface earth collapses over a mine shaft). In some states, mine subsidence insurance is mandatory. Discuss the risk with your agent.
